

Why attending a Nadcap meeting is crucial for companies operating in the aerospace and defense industries

Dear Stakeholder,

I am excited that one of your staff has expressed an intent to actively participate in an upcoming Nadcap meeting. There are significant benefits associated with their involvement, for both you and the Nadcap program.

As an employer, I appreciate the need to balance staff productivity, in and outside of the office, but I also know the value our customers' experience from attending a Nadcap meeting, and its impact on enhancing our effectiveness on your behalf.

Why attending Nadcap meetings is crucial to aerospace and defense companies:

- 1. Nadcap Management Council and Supplier Support Committee Meetings
Nadcap Subscribers and Suppliers work together in these sessions, on industry-managed initiatives that support the continual improvement throughout the industry such as standardization, oversight, globalization and strategy.
- 2. Critical Process Task Group Meetings
These meetings are a unique opportunity to review and discuss new and existing Nadcap Audit Criteria, and upcoming revisions that will impact on the audits, as well as to gather insights into common non-conformances (NCRs).
- 3. Training courses
Nadcap meeting attendees have the opportunity to take discounted aerospace training courses on various topics such as Root Cause Corrective Action (RCCA) or Nadcap Audit Preparation.
- 4. Networking Opportunities
Nadcap meetings welcome between 600 to over 1,000 aerospace and defense critical process experts. They represent an exceptional forum to develop business relationships with existing customers and suppliers, and create new bonds with potential customers or suppliers.

Supporting Nadcap meeting participation will give your company a competitive advantage through active involvement in industry-wide decision making, technical insights and unparalleled networking opportunities.

You can find more information about Nadcap and the upcoming meetings here. You can also call one of our offices. Click here to find our contact details.

I hope we have the pleasure of meeting your company delegates at a Nadcap meeting soon – please make sure to introduce yourself!

Kind regards,

Jay Solomond
Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer
Performance Review Institute